REPORT AND COMMENTS ON FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NINE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 1998

(Dollars in Thousands)

- EXECUTIVE FINANCIAL SUMMARY - UNRESTRICTED ACTIVITY

The following is a summary of our results for the nine months ended March 31, 1998.

	Operations	New Museum	Combined
Total Revenues	$ 3,793	4,301	8,094
Total Expenses	3,545	398	3,943
Net Revenues	248	3,903	4,151

The above results for operations are gratifying. While $243 of the $248 positive balance is from unbudgeted investment gains, the remaining "virtual breakeven" compares favorably with a budgeted loss of $182 for the year as a whole.

On the other hand, the capital campaign has not kept pace with the planned levels, and is at 73% of the budget for nine months.

- OPERATING REVENUES

Most significant operating revenues are at or better than the budgeted levels, and we are likely to continue most of that trend through the end of our fiscal year. Cash flows from operations are, therefore, better than planned. As a result, we have not used our line of credit nor incurred any interest expense to date.

- EXPENSES

The tabulation of expenses that follows shows how much each department has spent after nine months in relation to its total budget. Overall, we have spent 68% of our budget after 75% of the year (dollars are in thousands):

Department	Total 1998 Budget	Spent to March 31
		Amount	%
Education	$ 1,230	$ 972	79%
Exhibits and Operations	387	266	68
Museum Programs	318	218	68
ICASL Research	926	611	65
Collections and Applied Research	123	87	70
Gift Shop	80	70	88
Facilities	710	466	65
Development and Marketing	1,155	738	63
Institutional Support	245	117	47
Administration	553	398	71
Total Expenses	$ 5,727	3,943	68%

It is important to note that ICASL net revenues lag far behind the plan for the year and are not expected to recover the net shortfall. Education expenses are up slightly, reflecting commensurate unbudgeted additional revenues. Several departments are expected to keep some expense savings for the year, reflecting the closing of our North Pier facility.

CASH FLOWS

While our operations have been positive, as described above, our cash collections for the Campaign, while improving, are behind our needed schedule. We have been discussing additional bond financing for the Project with American National Bank and hope to have their commitment for credit enhancement in the new term.

To teachers Connie Gaberik and Jim Doyiakos, art and science not only imitate life but also the environment.

Using their natural surroundings as classrooms, the two Amundsen High School teachers incorporate ecology and environmental studies into their lessons.

The Chicago Academy of Sciences honored the two Amundsen High School teachers as 1998 Teachers of the Year Wednesday for teaching in a way that encourages scientific literacy.

The honors were passed out on the 28th annual Earth Day, as museum officials topped out the steel structure of the Nature Museum, a $30 million building under construction on the northwest corner of Fullerton Parkway and Cannon Drive in Lincoln Park.

The two teachers and guests autographed a steel beam that eventually will hang over the entrance of the museum, scheduled to open next spring.

The museum will house several interactive and environmental exhibits, including the North Pond wildlife refuge and a water lab.

"We can't wait," said the teachers, who saw the museum as another opportunity for hands-on and interactive lessons for their students.

Doyiakos, 35, and Gaberik, 60, were honored specifically for their creative approaches to teaching ecology and the environment.

In one project, their students make leaf prints, build bird feeders or create their own artistic renditions of rain forests after studying plants and habitats on nature walks.

They lead their classes on about three dozen field trips, taking their students to ponds, prairies and parks to study water, animals, plants and other wildlife.

"Environmental studies have come a long way," said Doyiakos, who has taught for eight years. "There were no real models when we started."
